Chapter 456: The Dissolution of the Forbidden Floors

A Realization Beyond Eternity

Sung Jin-Woo, seated upon his divine throne in the Godverse, observed the multiverse with omniscient clarity. The Dimensional Towers, grand monuments to mortal ambition, now stood as silent reminders of a bygone era.

The floors beyond Floor 100, once brimming with infinite challenges and cosmic mysteries, had become inaccessible after his divine decree. No mortal could set foot beyond the threshold, and even immortals had been barred from climbing higher.

"If no one can tread these paths, what purpose do they serve?" he mused, his golden eyes gleaming with thoughtfulness.

The Divine Decision

Raising the Scepter of Dominion, Sung Jin-Woo commanded the forbidden floors to dissolve back into his essence.

"Return to me," his voice echoed across the multiverse, carried by waves of primordial energy.

The fabric of existence rippled as the ethereal foundations of Floors 101 to 1000 began to unravel. The boundless spaces, infinite trials, and celestial constructs that had once tested the limits of mortal willpower shimmered like stars fading into dawn.

They were not destroyed but absorbed, merging seamlessly back into Sung Jin-Woo's boundless being—into his essence as the True Absolute One.

The Cosmic Transformation

The multiverse trembled gently as the divine dissolution unfolded. Beams of whitish-silver light shot upward, spiraling toward the heavens as the remnants of the forbidden floors were drawn back into their creator.

Observers across the realms, from the Heavenly Realm to the mortal worlds, beheld the phenomenon in awe.

Angels, dark angels, and heavenly soldiers witnessed the dissolution with reverence, bowing their heads in respect to their sovereign.

Mortals, unaware of the monumental change, simply felt a wave of peace washing over them, their burdens seemingly lighter.

The Nine Divine Dragons watched from their celestial castles, understanding the wisdom behind their father's decision.

"Balance restored," Sung Ye-Jun remarked, his crimson-black wings folding behind him.

A Divine Integration

As the final fragments of the forbidden floors dissolved, Sung Jin-Woo's form shimmered with renewed radiance. The reclaimed essence enriched his already immeasurable power, enhancing the stability and harmony of the multiverse.

"The unnecessary shall no longer exist," he declared with calm authority.

The energy once used to maintain the forbidden floors was now redirected toward fortifying the realms, strengthening the barriers between dimensions, and ensuring peace across creation.

A Legacy of Purpose

With the dissolution complete, Sung Jin-Woo addressed his divine companions, Ashborn and Sung Su-Ho.

"The towers now serve their true purpose—to guide mortals, not burden them with unattainable ambitions."

Ashborn nodded thoughtfully. "Mortality thrives on achievable goals. You've ensured that they will grow without being crushed by endless trials."

Sung Su-Ho added with a grin, "And with that power reclaimed, the multiverse is stronger than ever."

A New Era of Growth

The Dimensional Towers, now capped at Floor 100, stood as symbols of aspiration for mortals. They no longer represented an infinite climb but a meaningful journey toward self-discovery and fulfillment.

Mortals would continue to rise, fall, and learn—but always within the bounds of balance and purpose.

As for the reclaimed essence, it would forever remain a part of Sung Jin-Woo, fueling his eternal guardianship over the multiverse.

And so, with the dissolution of the forbidden floors, the Divine Triad's vision for a balanced and harmonious creation moved ever closer to perfection.
